Managed Decline, Downfall of the United States Of America By The papacy, The Jesuits:

How America's standard of living has fallen

The US remains the world's richest country but it certainly doesn't feel that way for many of its citizens, writes Will Pavia

According to the index, the US is one of only three countries where overall living standards have declined since 2011. The wealthiest nation in the world ranks 28th by these measures, behind Greece but just ahead of Singapore.
